Judge Knight Talks to Main Line Rotarians

Ardmore Club Joins Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth at Latter's Anniversary

TEACHER ALSO SPEAKS

That the American people should admire the intellectual honesty of Federal judges who rule in accordance with the Constitution is the belief of President Judge Harold G. Knight, of Montgomery County, principal speaker Monday night before a joint service club meeting at the Overbrook Golf Club.

Judge Knight, who was the speaker ten years ago at the first meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club, returned Monday to address an anniversary celebration shared in by the Ardmore club and representatives of other neighboring clubs.

"The Constitution of the United States will not fit a collectivist form of government. It is not designed for fascism or communism. It was written by individuals with an idea to the protection of freedom and opportunity," Judge Knight said. "If we want to change our form of government, then we should change the Constitution and not condemn the men who are interpreting it." Joseph J. Skelton introduced the speaker.

The jurist regretted the fact that relief is coming to be looked upon as a substitute for thrift. The example of the Government and the bitterness caused by bank losses were cited as reasons for this change in spirit.

In a talk conceived in a lighter vein, John Dennis Mahoney, English instructor at West Philadelphia High School, touched on many of the same topics. With obvious reference to the Hauptmann case he said: "Judges used to have the last word. Now the decision of the Court is apt to be taken as the topic of an interminable debate."

Brief remarks were made by William P. Landis, president of the Ardmore club; Dr. William A. Pearson, former district governor; Henry Schramm, present governor; Dr. Wilmer Krusen, of Philadelphia, and Arthur White, president of the latter club.

P. Carroll, president of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Club, presided.

"Perfect Alibi," Mystery Play, Delights Enthusiastic Audience

BY NARBERTH PLAYERS

You missed a treat even if you had a "perfect alibi" for not being present at the Narberth Players, for the audience enjoyed the play with bated breath and applause and voted it on as high a level of attainment as any reached by these very capable players who are rapidly making an enviable name as the most prominent Main Line acting group.

First credit goes to the Director, Martha Lindsay Simpson, for although actors are on the job a good part of the time, the devoted director is on the job one way or another all the time during the play's rehearsals.

Indeed in the firm of Simpson and Simpson (Bert Simpson being the president of the group) and with the co-operation throughout the entire organization, a friendly and delightful atmosphere is apparent to any outsider who is looking in.

The cast as they appear: George Werner (Jimmy Ludgrove) a gentleman and a hero, very personable and as natural as youth should be. Cecilia A. Link (Susan Cunningham). Here is a heroine for you, gay and play.

There will be two groups meeting next Monday evening at the following homes: Mr. and Mrs. McCartney, 405 Woodside avenue, and Miss Justice, 1104 Montgomery avenue.

Challenger Tells of Flood Relief Work by Legionnaires

Frank Challenger, Narberth, Deputy Commander of the Ninth District, American Legion, this week announced some of the work accomplished by Legion Posts throughout the State in providing relief for flood sufferers.

"Over 100 truck loads of food, cots, blankets, disinfectants, medical supplies, etc., have been dispatched from the Philadelphia area alone to Johnstown, Blairsville, Indiana, Tyone, Lewistown, Williamsport and other flood centers," he said.

"Auxiliary units everywhere have worked shoulder to shoulder with Legionnaires," he asserted, and added that "the emergency period is still far from ended and the American Legion will continue to ship needed supplies to flooded districts. Donations of money and supplies are still greatly needed."

Noted Local Artists to Exhibit At Ardmore Club April 4-7-8

An exhibition of art, both as a profession and as a hobby, will be open to the public at the Woman's Club of Ardmore building on Ardmore avenue this Saturday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 4, 7 and 8, from 2 to 5 o'clock each afternoon.

The exhibit was arranged by Mrs. C. B. Turner and Mrs. H. H. Elliott, co-chairmen of the Art Committee of the Woman's Club, its sponsor.

Paintings will include "Pound Boat," by Paul L. Gill, loaned by the Art Alliance, and "Suzanne," by Sue May Gill. Mr. and Mrs. Gill's studio home is in the English Village, Wynnewood.

Also will be shown a painting by Mary Marshall, Philadelphia, aunt of Mrs. W. L. Heisner, Ardmore club member, which formerly was exhibited at the London International Exhibition.

Other exhibitors will include Louis Braekvelt, Belgian painter, of Ardmore; Katharine McCormick and Clara Dotter, both of Philadelphia.

Opinions on Dog Quarantine Enforcement

JOHN H. JEFFERIES, JR.
chairman, Lower Merion Commissioners' Quarantine Committee: "Enforcement . . . with utmost tact . . . but we will not weigh human life and canine life with the same scales."

WALTER R. FARIES
Bala-Cynwyd attorney: "Going after a dog on the owner's property . . . usurpation of power . . . infringement of private rights."

Hearing Reveals Committee Fight and WPA Salaries

A hearing was held before Judge William F. Dannehower, Jr., at Norristown, Wednesday, on a petition to have the name of Mrs. Beatrice Morford, 101 Woodside avenue, Narberth, removed from the ballot for Narberth third district Democratic committee-woman.

It was alleged that George W. Cook, 110 Woodside avenue, unopposed for third district Democratic committeeman, had circulated a petition for Mrs. Effie Burns, 108 Woodside avenue, and committeewoman for several years, and later had started a petition for Mrs. Morford.

In questioning Cook, Attorney Dennis O'Neill, Norristown attorney and Democratic independent, elicited the information that Cook had received "indirect orders" from Thomas Lineaweaver, Haverford, New Deal leader in Montgomery County, to arrange for the Morford petition, but Cook denied he had received orders to switch his support.

Mr. Cook, a plumbing contractor, also testified that at present he is employed as a WPA foreman at $180 a month and that his wife was assistant at the Bryn Mawr WPA sewing project at $140 per month.

The case was taken under advisement.

Junior Club Show Delights Audience

Members Model Spring Apparel; Treasure Hunt April 9

QUILT SALE NETS $20.00

The Fashion Show presented by the Narberth Junior Community Club last Thursday evening was a great success. The clubroom was filled with style-conscious guests, who eagerly watched the graceful models trip down the aisle to the accompaniment of a pianist's gentle music, climaxed by the mighty strains of the Wedding March as a full bridal party (minus the male contingent) ended the colorful array of spring modes. Miss Evelyn Jefferis, who was chairman of the show, deserves credit for her careful arrangement of every detail.

Albrecht's furnished the flowers for the bridal party and the palms used in decoration, and Narberth Beauty Salons did the coiffures.

The announcer was Miss Ruth Hopkins; the models were, Mrs. Dorothy Hutchinson, Mrs. Sally Laine, Mrs. Sue Titus, Miss Daisy Ovale, Miss Evelyn Jefferis, Miss Irma Ruth.

Music for Palm Sunday

On Palm Sunday morning the adult choir of the Narberth Presbyterian Church will sing "Alleluia, Lord God," by Palestrina, the greatest composer of church music of the sixteenth century.

The children's choir, age 6-13, will sing Gregor's "Hosanna," a hymn from the Moravian Church. There is a two-part chorus. In the evening the high school choir will sing the beloved "Palms."

200 Attend Forum on Dog Quarantine

Township Speakers Give History and Facts About Epidemic

SOME PROTESTS HEARD

About 200 persons from all parts of Lower Merion Township and Narberth Tuesday evening discussed the dog quarantine. The meeting called by the Penn Valley Association, Walter D. Fuller, president, was held in All Saints Church, Wynnewood.

Explanations of what the authorities are doing and the reasons for its necessity were made by John J. Jefferies, Jr., chairman of the special township quarantine committee; Dr. R. M. Staley, Narberth veterinarian in charge of the pound; Dr. Richard Kern and Dr. George W. Grim, of the Lower Merion Board of Health; Julius Ziegler, president of the Commissioners; Dr. George A. Sloan, Narberth Board of Health president; Superintendent of Police Charles P. Smith; Dr. Max Strumia, chief pathologist at Bryn Mawr Hospital; Dr. William H. Ivens, Ardmore veterinarian.

Walter D. Faries, Bala-Cynwyd attorney, questioned the legal right of the township to go on private property to seize dogs. Mr. Faries was counsel for the Carwithen family of Merion this week in the case wherein a daughter, Miss Nona Carwithen, gave up a dog, which she had taken from the street in Cynwyd into her car, upon demand of the dog catchers. She paid $8.50 before Magistrate Franklin P. Kromer to obtain the dog's release.

L. Johnson, Penn Valley; Dr. Gibson Bell, headmaster of Montgomery School and rector of All Saints Church, and others inquired just how far the township expected to go in its enforcement. Mr. Jefferies replied that the dog catching agencies had orders to withdraw from private property "when a dog reaches the sanctuary of the house," inside the door.

Two specific protests were made, one by Mrs. Henry Elmer Howell, Rosemont, who said that dog catchers forced her chauffeur to give up her 12-year-old Boston Bull "which has no teeth to bite with" from the kitchen of her home under threat of arrest. She praised Dr. Staley's work at the pound very highly. In the other, Mrs. J. West, of Barrett avenue, Bryn Mawr, wanted to know when her fine would be returned. She said dog catchers demanded she give

United Campaign This Year Begins With Larger Gifts

Spurred on by the enthusiastic support being given the United Campaign on the Main Line, volunteer workers are bending every effort to put the 1936 objective over the top, announced Rodney K. Merrick from United Campaign headquarters in the Times Medical Building, Ardmore, this week.

This week was marked by the receipt of several gifts which show a general tendency toward increased amounts. Since the total objective $4,688,000 exceeds by thirty per cent the total amount raised in recent previous drives, increased gifts are essential.

200 Attend Forum on Dog Quarantine

up from the sanctuary of her house an unlicensed dog, which she later recovered.

Walter D. Fuller, presiding officer, said the gathering was not a "protest meeting" and ably kept it from becoming such.

The following facts of valuable importance to all residents, especially owners of dogs were brought out by the speakers:

In January, a dog, maddened by disease, started a death trot from Overbrook, passing through Lower Merion Township and coming to his end a week later in West Chester. The number of dogs he bit on his fatal journey is unknown.

On February 11 the head of a dog, which had died in Cynwyd, was sent to the Harrisburg State laboratories for examination. The next day a positive report of death from rabies was sent to the Lower Merion Board of Health.

On February 17 the Board of Health "presented the Township Commissioners with a dog quarantine," asking that the State dog law be enforced. The quarantine went into effect February 19 "until further notice." Narberth's Board of Health immediately put into effect a similar quarantine for that borough.

The State law provides that an officer may shoot any unlicensed dog running-at-large, may enter any building in pursuit of the same, may shoot any dog between sunset and sunrise that is not strictly under control of its owner or guardian.

On March 18 the Township Commissioners adopted a Board of Health resolution permitting dog catching agencies to enter the premises of an owner to seize a dog not on a leash, not penned up, not exercising on a line.

March 23 a State dog quarantine went into effect for 100 days in Montgomery County, with township and borough authorities to continue actual enforcement of their own quarantines, but with the State reserving the right to take charge at any time.

Of the 279 dogs impounded in Lower Merion-Narberth recently, 17 have been rabid, or 6.1%. Twenty-eight persons have been bitten since February 22, but not one case of death by rabies in this section has occurred.

No cases of dog rabies have been discovered in the last twelve days.

Rabies is positively fatal once the symptoms have set in following an incubation period in humans of three weeks to six months, in dogs from 10 days to three months or longer. A person bitten should report to health authorities at once with the dog being placed immediately under observation.

Inoculation of dogs helps prevent the spread of rabies, but only partially. A proper quarantine can eventually stamp out the disease entirely as it has in England, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Australia.

The quarantine thus far has cost Lower Merion Township $3,550.80, including about $2,000 of capital expense in equipping the Mill Creek pumping station as a dog pound. Receipts have been $331. Dog-catching paraphernalia is obtained by the S. P. C. A. at a cost of $20 per day regardless of the number of dogs seized. Two policemen are also assigned daily to the work.

Dogs that must be put to death are sent to the Conshohocken S. P. C. A. lethal chamber.

Bible Class Luncheon

The Women's Bible Class of the Narberth Presbyterian Church will hold a luncheon in the church parlors next Tuesday at 1 o'clock, with Mrs. R. W. Phillips as the committee chairman.

The sunrise Easter service to be held at Temple Stadium will be conducted by Ross Stover and will follow the same plan as last year. Groups from the borough who wish to attend should communicate with Mrs. R. C. Kennedy, Narberth 2474-R, not later than April 8.

CCC Seeks 70 Youths

The Civilian Conservation Corp. Camps will make 70 replacements from Bucks and Montgomery Counties from now to April 15.

Applicants must be from families on relief, single, between 17 and 28, white. Boys are paid $30 a month of which they must allot $25 to their families.

Eligible Main Line youths may apply this Friday and next Tuesday and Friday, 8.30 to 12 noon, at the Old Red Lion Inn across from the Autocar, Ardmore, or at the Social Service League, Bala-Cynwyd, on April 6 and 13, 9 to 12.

Art Trip Easter Monday

The last trip of the season of the Art Department of the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs will be held on Easter Monday and will include the mothers and their children.

The trip will be conducted by Louis Wilton Sibley, director of the Arts and Science Society. All those who wish to go are to meet at the Eagle in Wanamaker's Store in Philadelphia. Dr. P. Frank Kehler, personal physician of the late John Wanamaker, will talk on the large Munkacsy paintings, "Christ Before Pilate" and "The Crucifixion." Afterwards the party will go to 6th and Walnut, where they will meet Mr. Sibley, who will conduct them to various places of interest.

Township and Borough Share in Liquor Fees

Lower Merion Township's share of liquor license fees collected since October will be $8,916, the second largest in Montgomery County. Narberth will receive $850.

Girl Scout News

Members of the Main Line troops at the Red Cross headquarters in Ardmore have helped sort and pack wearing apparel, food and other useful articles donated to flood victims.

Wynnewood Troop 214 sang over WIBG at Hotel Sylvania for the purpose of promoting an interest in the 8th Children's Simphonietta which was held at the Bellevue on March 28th. Mrs. Carl Morken is captain of 214.

A tree-planting ceremony at Camp Indian Run has been announced for Saturday, April 18th, at two o'clock. Strong-armed fathers of Girl Scouts who will volunteer to do a bit of digging for the tree-planting will be treated by the Mariners to a supper at the camp, providing reservations are made at Girl Scout headquarters, 311 S. Juniper street, Philadelphia, Pennypacker 9427 or 9428. The goal is 10,000 trees with a planting of 2,000 of the tiny saplings each year.

Mrs. Guy L. Cornman, of Ardmore, chairman of the Training and Personnel Committee, reports marked progress in the development of Girl Scouting on the Main Line. Her committee, composed of the co-chairman, Miss Beatrice Tees, of Wayne, Mrs. Maxwell H. Forbes, of Oakmont, and Mrs. Samuel P. Huhn, Jr., of Colonial Village, representing the parochial troops, have attended four Courts of Awards and six Troop Committee meetings; helped with the organization of new troop committees and the reorganization of those in existence (a new ruling makes it obligatory to register a troop committee on the same sheet as the girls in the troop); arranged a Troop Committee Round Table Conference in October which was attended by 61 adults; started a General Training Course in the fall and planned a Nature Course for the coming month. Various Troop Committees have taken charge of the suppers at the monthly Leaders' meetings with signal success. There are 24 troops on the Main Line, including a troop in the process of reorganization and one at the Home for Incurables, all but one of which has a captain in charge, all but seven of which have a troop committee, although there are only eight lieutenants or acting-lieutenants among the 24 troops.

At the tea given by Ardmore Troop 93 as a welcome to the new Captain, Mrs. H. H. Wallower, of Rosemont, a portion of their Hostess Badges was passed by Betty Baldridge, Nancy and Jane Crook, Elizabeth Cornman, Helen Hewitt and Beatrice Parker. The girls planned the tea which included a kitchen shower given to Miss Mary Cornman, who has been affiliated with the troop for sometime and will be married in June.

Only a week more to wait for the big All-City International Folk Festival, when the ten Philadelphia districts will each be represented by a troop which won the respective contests for singing and dancing, making twenty big events in costume as well as Fjeril Hess, who is editor of the Girl Scout organization in New York and who will bring some of her own folk songs of many countries to add to the entertainment. Obtain your free tickets from your captain for the festival to be held at Irvine Auditorium, 34th and Spruce street, on Saturday, April 11, at 2 P. M.

Katrina Hoyt, Katherine Ridge, Arlene Albrecht, Peggy Maslin were invested as Tenderfoot Scouts by Troop No. 125 of Narberth.

Mrs. Howard Longstreth is a member of the Main Line District 8 Girl Scout Committee and is co-chairman of the Badges and Awards Committee. Mrs. Longstreth is very generous to the scouts at all times.

Mrs. Henry D. Booth, Jr., of St. Davids, is the chairman of the Main Line District Committee.

Troop 8

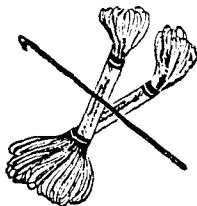

Mr. Charles Noel, chief of the Narberth Fire Company, spoke to the Girl Scouts of Narberth last Tuesday evening.

He told the girls of his exciting adventures as a fireman and of the causes and results of most fires. The group was surprised to learn that 90 per cent of all fires are caused by carelessness. Mr. Noel told us what we, as scouts, could do to prevent fires and what we can do in case of and during a fire.

The girls will sing at the "Scouts' Own" program to be held in Bryn Mawr Sunday evening, April 26. Because Troop 125 won the district song contest and because of the other troops' singing ability the Narberth Troops will be the chorus at this program.

Where?—Montgomery pike at Woodbine avenue. When?—Soon! (adv.)

"Rose Marie" at Narberth; "Captain Blood" is Next

Jeanette Macdonald and Nelson Eddy sing Friml's glorious songs and Miss Macdonald also appears in "Romco and Juliet" and "La Tosca," in "Rose Marie," now showing at the Narberth Theatre. Beautiful scenery and good direction help make the production notable entertainment.

Added Saturday at the 1 P. M. Junior Matinee is the Columbia "Happy Hour" of specially chosen short subjects.

Coming Monday and Tuesday is "Captain Blood," Rafael Sabatini's exciting story of romantic adventure, with splendid acting by Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland, Lionel Atwill, Basil Rathbone, Ross Alexander and Guy Kibbee.

Wednesday's feature will be "Red Salute," starring Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Young.

The rest of the week, Narberth will present Leslie Howard and Bette Davis in "The Petrified Forest."

"Milky Way" Best Lloyd Film, Says Joseph Conway

The best comedy Harold Lloyd has ever made, is Showman Conway's appraisal of "The Milky Way," now showing at the Egyptian. It's a hilariously funny comedy in the modern manner, and in addition to Lloyd it stars Adolphe Menjou, Verree Teasdale, William Gargan, Helen Mack, George Barbier and Agnes, the horse that pulls the milk wagon that Lloyd abandons when he ducks his way into fistie fame. On the same program is Disney's cartoon, "Pluto's Judgment Day," starring Donald the Duck, Mickey the Mouse, and, of course, Pluto. The film will be shown tonight and tomorrow and at the 2.15 Saturday matinee.

At Saturday's 10.15 Junior Matinee, the feature will be "Smoky," thrilling, instructive story of the life of a wild horse. The following Saturday's feature will be "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

Next Monday and Tuesday, the Egyptian will present "Her Master's Voice," amusing screen version of the gay stage show, starring Edward Everett Horton, Peggy Conklin and Laura Hope Crews.

Wednesday and (Bank Night) Thursday, comes Walter Connolly in "Soak the Rich," smart and riotously funny comedy produced and written by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur. The cast includes John Howard and Mary Taylor.

"Anything Goes," the end of next week, is the musical comedy starring Bing Crosby, Ethel Merman and Charles Ruggles.

Narberth Players Will Hold Gala Night on April 14

A gala night has been planned for the next meeting of the Narberth Players by the chairman of the Entertainment Committee, Mrs. P. A. Pitcher. The date is April 14 and it will be held as usual in the auditorium of the Narberth Public School. Mr. William H. Muller will present two plays, "Pride of the Claghornes," a comedy review which was very successful in New York, and a dramatic one-act play, entitled "The Under Current," which has the record of over 1000 performances in vaudeville. There will also be a tap-dancing specialty by Grace Werner and her partner.

Milk Wagon Driver Turns Pugilist

School Notes

Because of the need for money and clothing for the flood relief, the school established a Red Cross unit for this purpose. Jane King, Anita Goodrich, Louise Johnston, Joe Loos and Alfred Gres acted as officials and went around to each room with a jar requesting each pupil to contribute to the Red Cross for the flood relief. A large amount of clothing and canned goods were also given. They received $30 from the rooms. This will be turned over to the local Red Cross. This is the order in which the money was received: Kindergarten, $1.85; Miss Miesen, $1.72; Miss McAuliff, $1.62; Miss Bishop, $1.62; Miss Stock, $2.19; Miss Worst, $2.08; Miss Culley, $2.21; Miss Wunderlich, $1.49; Miss Hoak, —; Miss Dale, $1.30; Miss Miller, —; Miss Dell, $2.28; Mrs. Brenner, 42 cents; Miss Taylor, $2.50; Mr. Knoll, $2.62; Miss Hoover, $1.05, and Mr. Harkness, $3.13.

In order to create a greater interest in good pictures in the home and school and develop a finer appreciation of the pictures around us, plans were made for a circulating picture library. Each teacher selected two pupils to choose two pictures every six weeks. The pictures will first be hung in the art room for everybody to see them and then the pupils select their pictures and a card is placed on them saying "Reserved." The boys that will hang and take down the pictures are Howard Kairer, Bob Timothy, Albert C'vitello and Frank Spinelli.

In the English classes of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades the pupils were asked to write an essay on his or her favorite hobby or pastime. The pupils are co-operating with the P.-T. A. study group. In describing their hobbies they are showing parents what children are interested in. There is to be a hobby show on Wednesday, April 1, in the Legion room. Mr. Drennen has charge of arranging them.

Both sessions of the kindergarten are going in on Wednesday and Thursday of this week to the Franklin Institute to study the various methods of transportation.

The exhibit in the school museum is on foreign dolls. The dolls were loaned to us by Mrs. Wallace Boardman and Mrs. William Miller. There are about fifty dolls from various countries in native costume. The countries of the dolls include Austria, Italy, France, Holland, Greece, Russia, China, Java, West Indies, Philippines, India, Virgin Islands, Straits Settlement, Northern Africa, Brazil, Peru, Chile, Venezuela, Madeira and the United States.

Our operetta, "Chonita," was very successful. The net proceeds of the operetta were about $85. The money will go towards stage equipment and lighting so that future plays will have better lighting and equipment without going to so much trouble and expense.

School closes Thursday afternoon, April 9, for the Easter vacation and sessions are resumed on Thursday, April 16.

'Soak the Rich,' Lousy?

Here's a brand new picture that we haven't seen advertised in any theatre in Philadelphia. And except for Walter Connolly, you probably don't know any of the stars. Not having seen it ourselves, we refer you to the following criticisms:

Hecht & MacArthur—not satisfied to write and produce "Soak the Rich," the punks even play parts in it. What a show!
—PODUNK OBSERVER

"Soak the Rich," a film dealing with the problems of a millionaire during these days of social unrest, is improbable entertainment. Don't fail to miss it.

—HECHT & MACARTHUR

Worst film I ever played in.

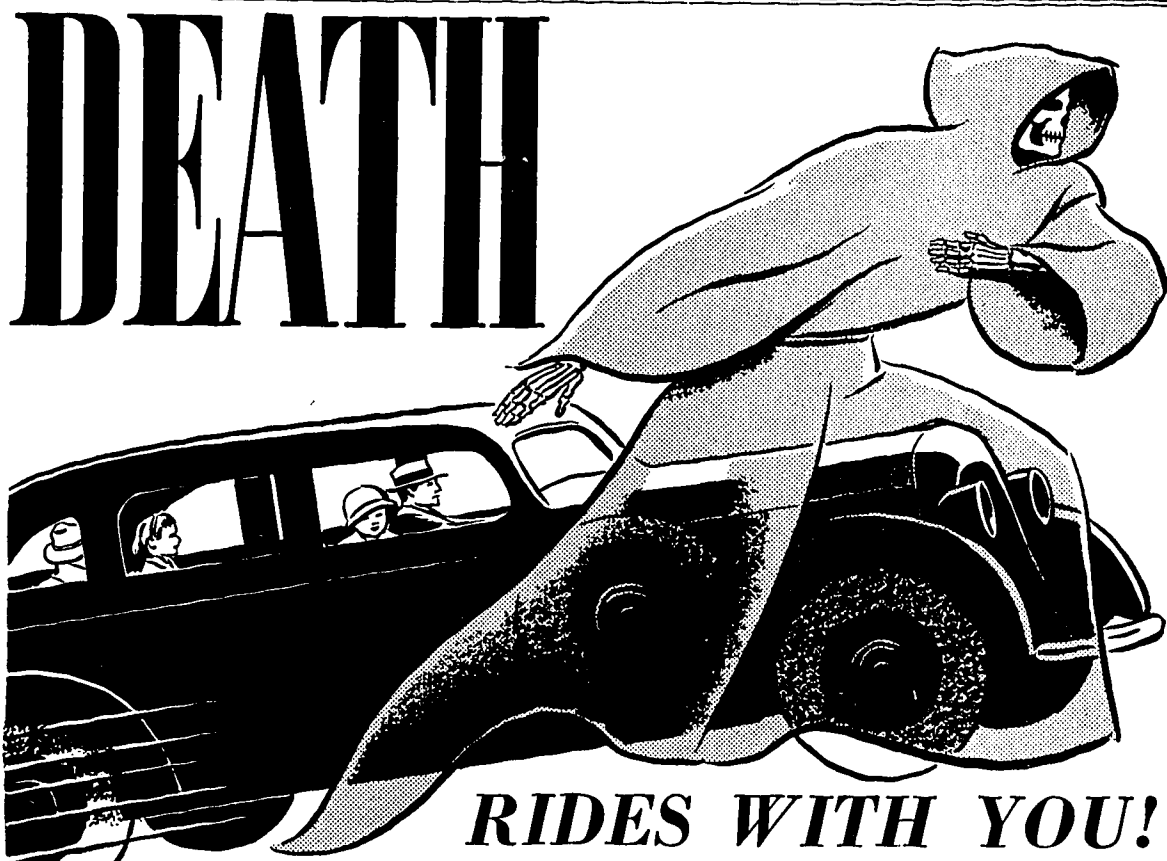

WALTER CONNOLLY

If you don't like the so-called "comedy" concocted by Ben Hecht & Chas. MacArthur, why waste time seeing their latest—"Soak the Rich."
—POLICE BLOTTER

Don't see "Soak the Rich"—it pokes fun at everything—the rich, the conservative, the young, the radicals, even love.
—CORONERS' GAZETTE

I tire of satire. I itch at "Soak the Rich." Really, 'taint entertainment.
—L. OTIS, in the LEBANONVILLE NEWS-HERALD-POST-JOURNAL

HOWEVER---"SOAK THE RICH" is at the Egyptian Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday

Fragrance Adds Charm to Garden Picture

Fragrance in gardens is a charming attribute we often talk about, but too seldom find. Just why this should be true is one of those mysteries of current fashion which is hard to explain. We find the modern gardener in a frenzied effort to create the perfect color setting, and in his haste forgetting to include those sweet-scented subjects which give such a delightful perfume to summer evenings.

Some of this neglect may be due to the homely dress of some of the old-fashioned fragrant flowers. For example, the evening-scented stocks (Matthiola bicornis), which give such an abundance of perfume they may well be grown for that alone. But many fragrant flowers have been highly developed by modern plant breeding and may be planted for color and beauty as well. Mignonette (reseda odorata) is one of these, and has no superior for its delicate scent. It makes excellent cutting material to combine with other flowers.

There are many fragrant blooms that can be grown from spring-sown seeds. The ten-week stocks are a delightful race of garden subjects which came in a long color range. Nicotiana, the sweet-scented tobacco plants, should have a place in every garden. Their long tubular flowers close in midday, but open as evening approaches and give forth a rich perfume.

The sweet sultans and sweet scabiosas have a soft fragrance and add beauty to the garden picture. They are fast growing annuals. Sow seeds of the sweet sultan (centaurea) broadcast where they are to grow. The datura (angel's trumpet) is another fragrant annual which is beautiful. It must be started early in the house, or a hotbed.

The evening primrose is noted for its heavy scent, given off during the evening hours. Its yellow and white blooms, attractive during the daytime, seem to reflect the moon at night. The heliotrope is another universal favorite.

Gardeners who will take the time to search the seed catalogs will be able to find numerous fragrant subjects to fit into their summer picture.

Garden Expert to Speak

Garden lovers will be wise to take advantage of the invitation extended by I. N. Simon & Son, 529 Market street, Philadelphia, to attend a free lecture on "Flowering Shrubs" on Tuesday, April 7, 2:30 P. M., in their lecture room on the second floor of their establishment.

The lecture, which will be fully illustrated, will be given by Mr. W. O. Hird, long experienced and eminently successful in all phases of gardening.

Mr. Hird will cover such subjects as the selection of shrubs, as to their placing in the garden for both utilitarian and decorative purposes.

Penn Valley Exhibits

A number of fine exhibits in Easter table arrangements were presented by members at the meeting of the Penn Valley Garden Club Monday morning. Mrs. Arthur Goldsmith received the largest number of votes for the best exhibit; second, Mrs. E. Burke Wilford, and third, Mrs. Lester Collier.

The next meeting will be Monday, April 13, at the home of Mrs. Earl G. Wagner, Righter's Mill road, Penn Valley. Mrs. J. H. Gardner will speak on Japanese flower arrangement.

Nabbed in Canada

Joseph Santarelli, 37, said to have formerly lived in Narberth, has been arrested in St. Johns, Quebec, on charges of fraudulent conversion of $9,000. He had been sought for four years for a shortage in his accounts at Philadelphia's Columbus Title & Trust Company, of which he was a teller.

Sun Cleaners in Narberth

Their 23rd store has been opened in Narberth, at 219 Haverford avenue, by the Sun Cleaners and Dyers, whose 22 other stores are throughout Philadelphia and the suburbs. In business for ten years, Sun Cleaners and Dyers operate a modern establishment and run their own cleaning plant. The store is located in what was for years known as White's Sweet Shop.

ful, and courageous too, with a bump for criminal detecting on a head which she uses, and can she catch crooks? My word! She does! And the hysterical twist at the end of the play is a realistic touch of the feminine and is a good laugh, too.

"Adams," the perfect butler, oh! Mr. William H. Muller what would you charge to help along our hour of ease. The stamp of approval is on you for bottling.

The Major, I rather think Elmer Hackman did his best work in this part, certainly so, if the applause of the audience meant anything. Then the two high-toned Englishwomen played by Helen Weatherall and Peggie Bailey were true to their artifices and Miss Bailey particularly delighted in the last scene by her inane and ingenuous nonsense.

Mr. Phil A. Pitcher made the murder of Mr. Ludgrove seem most inexcusable, we lamented the end of his able characterization.

Then, crooks and constables! Well done, the four of you! W. Russell Green, Arthur Cooke, Robert Estes, Francis V. Mitchell. Robert Estes really won his stripes (or badge one should say) as Sergeant Mallet, doing a convincing piece of work. As crooks, congratulations to Mr. Green and Mr. Cooke! They were not so terrifying for the comedy plays heavily into the lines in the last act and A. A. Milne was squeezing every bit of fun out of the dialogue, but they committed the murder in a really finished sort of way!

The entire cast was well heard and well liked and through a slow moving, chatty English play such as A. A. Milne writes, they managed to wrap the audience out of itself with an understanding interpretation, playing on the surprises in this delightful mystery of crooks and ladies. Here's to the Narberth Players. May they have many more plays and prosper!

Dr. George Emerson Barnes, pastor of the Overbrook Presbyterian Church, officiated.

There were no attendants. Mr. Blodgett and his bride will reside at the Baird Apartments in Narberth.

Book Club Hears New Local Author Tell How

The Book Club of the Narberth Junior Community Club met last Monday evening at the home of Miss Gladys Grover, Merion, with Mrs. Robert I. Fretz as co-hostess.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Robert Young, Ardmore, whose first book has just been published by the Alliance Press of Philadelphia. Mrs. Young writes under the pen name of "Jane Chambers." In the two months since its publication, "Gun-Smoke From the Sage-Brush," has brought a very promising return to its author in popular acclaim. Two later books have likewise been accepted by the publishers.

Mrs. Ellsworth Clark, chairman of the Club, was responsible for securing Mrs. Young as a speaker, and recommended her book as most interesting reading to the group.

Several club members contributed items of book news to the meeting. Mrs. Clark commented on current best sellers, among them, Rebecca West's "The Thinking Reed"; George Santayana's "The Last Puritan"; and "Valiant is the Word for Carrie." Mrs. Spencer Smith gave her personal reactions to "Europa" and "I Write As I Please," two of this year's club list. Mrs. James Moore read a commentary from the "Herald Tribune" in which dramatic critic James Mordock compared favorably (to his own surprise), the movie version "These Three" with the original stage production of "The Children's Hour."

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Dr. McDonald Reveals Zoo Plans

A combined playground and educational institution similar to the Chinese zoo of 4000 years ago, which was known as the "Park of Intelligence," is the ambition of Dr. Roderick Macdonald, director of the Philadelphia Zoo. Dr. Macdonald, who lives at 320 Bowman avenue, Merion, spoke at the meeting of the Oakmont Parent-Teacher Association Thursday.

"The Philadelphia Zoo is the oldest zoo in the United States, and until recently had the most animals," said Dr. Macdonald. "We are very proud of our record of longevity. The zoo's greatest achievement along this line was keeping alive for thirty years a mammal which ordinarily would die at the age of two months when in captivity."

TIME OUT
With TOMMY MACKLIN

I am glad to see that Roger Hanger has been elected co-captain of Pennsylvania's 1937 basketball team, sharing the honor with Franny Murray, who was captain this past season. Roger will make an excellent leader and his senior year should see him as one of the outstanding players in the Intercollegiate League.

The committees of the world have a difficult assignment when they have to choose recipients of various awards. It is impossible to please the many who nurse their own private opinions as to who should be honored. Often those of us who criticize a choice would make a real botch of the job if we had anything to do with it. I have no particular award in mind at the present, nor do I disagree with any that have been made in recent weeks, but I do want to take time out to pay a small tribute to one of the finest athletes and men that ever graced the halls of Pennsylvania. That lad is James Bradford, fondly called Jim by the hundreds who know him well. I watched the Penn basketball team flounder along to mid-season and then blossom into a formidable competitor. If I know anything about the game at all, I say with conviction that it was the work of Jim Bradford that brought the team from mediocrity to a place in the collegiate sun. He was a star both on offense and defense and he took the rough going like a true sportsman, taking a real beating in game after game, and continued to play the game according to the rules. No unfair advantage or intentional fouling was ever committed by the hard-working pivot man to my knowledge and in almost every game he outplayed his opponent. The same was true in football. Jim's work at end was of the same high class. Always giving his best, Jim was what Harvey Harman calls a "Coach's Athlete." I wish there were some sort of cup or mug or kettle, or something that a committee from Penn could give to Jim Bradford. There are a lot of boys there who deserve one, but it seems to me that Jim just tops the list.

Lower Merion opened the diamond season with an easy victory over Episcopal Academy at the latter's field Tuesday afternoon. The score for seven innings read 13 to 2 for the Maroon. Dick Whitney, one of the "upper" of the upper class, used all of his six feet two inches in hurling the ball past opposing batters. He held the Churchmen to six hits and two runs—a hit for each foot of his height and a run for each additional inch. I don't think he had that in mind at the time, but if he did, he managed just right. Harvey Cook, leading catcher in the Suburban League, had two hits, sharing honors with his battery mate, who also slashed out two singles.

It is still too early to predict accurately as to the team's chances in the league this season. I have a feeling that the boys will be pretty close to the top when the schedule is finished. There is every reason to believe that they won't lose as many games as the Philadelphia Athletics will, so with that consolation I await developments.

Coaches Drumm and Hutton will get the track and field men under way on the 11th of April, when they meet one of the Catholic high schools of Philadelphia on Pennypacker Field. The track team should be more formidable this season than last and may be particularly strong in field events.

William E. Fendall

William Eches Fendall, 79, former judge at Alexandria, Va., was buried this week in St. Paul's Cemetery, that city, following funeral services last Saturday at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. George Farr Oberge, Buck lane, Haverford.

Mr. Fendall was the husband of the former Katherine Atterbury, niece of the late Pennsylvania Railroad president, General W. W. Atterbury.

Henry G. Pearce

The funeral of Henry G. Pearce, 49, of Haverford, was held yesterday morning at All Saints' Church, Wynnewood, with interment in Woodlawn Cemetery, New York City.

Mr. Pearce was a member of the firm of Carstairs Brothers, distillers; a director of Bank and Insurance Shares, Inc., and a member of the Merion Cricket and Racquet Clubs. Formerly an All-American cricket player and a champion swimmer at Penn, Mr. Pearce served as a first lieutenant in the Engineers' Corps in the World War under the late Brigadier General W. W. Atterbury.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Leita Wheeler Nelson Pearce.

Margaret Parsons

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret McElhany Parsons, 69, who died on March 25, were held last Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Boulay, Iona avenue, Narberth. Interment was in St. Paul's Lutheran Cemetery, Ardmore.

Mrs. Parsons and her husband, Mahlon Parsons, who survives, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last June. She had lived in Cynwyd for more than fifty years, moving to Lenola, N. J., about fifteen years ago.

She is survived by six daughters: Mrs. Boulay, Mrs. H. L. Dasher, Mrs. Sabie Censore, all of Narberth; Mrs. Robert Lindsay, Cynwyd; Mrs. Marshall Atkins and Mrs. Harry Rutherford, both of Lenola, N. J., and a son, George G. Parsons, Lenola; a brother, Joseph McElhany, Philadelphia, and a half-brother, Joseph G. Mitten, of Detroit.
